

Here is a comprehensive marketing plan, pricing strategy, rollout plan, and Facebook ad for an AI-powered interactive children's storytelling app (let's call it WonderTale) targeted at UK parents.

WONDERTALE: MARKETING & LAUNCH PLAN

1. Executive Summary & Target Audience

Product: WonderTale, an AI-powered interactive app that creates safe, highly personalised, "choose-your-own-adventure" bedtime stories for children. Target Audience: UK parents (primarily aged 25–45) with children aged 3–8. Core Problem Solved: Bedtime resistance, lack of diverse/personalised reading material, and parental guilt over passive screen time. Unique Selling Proposition (USP): Guilt-free, interactive screen time where the child is the hero, building reading confidence and vocabulary through safe, moderated AI.

2. Pricing Strategy

The pricing uses a Freemium Subscription Model tailored to the UK market to lower the barrier to entry while ensuring recurring revenue.

- Free Tier (The Hook): Free to download. Includes 3 AI-generated stories per month, basic text-to-speech audio, and 1 child profile.
- Monthly Premium: £5.99/month. Unlimited AI story generation, premium voice narrators (including British accents), interactive read-along highlighting, and up to 3 child profiles.
- Annual Premium: £49.99/year (saves 30%). Includes all monthly benefits plus a monthly "Printable Story" export feature to turn their favourite AI story into a physical PDF book.
- Launch Offer: 30-day free trial of Premium for anyone who signs up during the first month.

3. Rollout Plan

A 12-week phased go-to-market strategy focusing on community trust and targeted digital acquisition.

Phase 1: Pre-Launch & Beta (Weeks 1–4)

- Mumsnet & Facebook Groups: Recruit 500 UK parents from platforms like Mumsnet and local parenting Facebook groups for beta testing.
- Incentive: Offer beta testers a lifetime premium subscription in exchange for reviews, testimonials, and feedback on the UK voice narration.
- Landing Page: Launch a waitlist capturing emails with the promise of "1 Month Free Premium" upon launch.

Phase 2: Soft Launch & Influencer Seeding (Weeks 5–8)

- Micro-Influencers: Partner with 15–20 UK "mum-fluencers" and dad bloggers (10k–50k followers) on Instagram and TikTok. Ask them to post authentic videos of their bedtime routine using the app.
- App Store Optimisation (ASO): Optimise iOS and Google Play listings for UK search terms like "bedtime stories for kids," "reading app," and "toddler sleep."

Phase 3: Hard Launch & Paid Acquisition (Weeks 9–12)

- Paid Social: Launch Facebook, Instagram, and Pinterest ad campaigns (see ad copy below).
- PR Push: Distribute a press release to UK tech, parenting, and national lifestyle media highlighting how AI is solving the "bedtime battle."
- Charity Partnership: Announce a partnership with a UK literacy charity (e.g., donating a percentage of annual subscriptions to provide physical books to disadvantaged schools).

Phase 4: Retention & Growth (Months 4+)

- Refer-a-Friend: "Give a month, get a month" referral programme.
- Seasonal Content Drops: Push notifications for AI prompts themed around UK holidays (e.g., Bonfire Night, Christmas, World Book Day).

FACEBOOK AD CAMPAIGN

Campaign Objective: App Installs / Conversions (Free Trial Sign-ups) Targeting: UK / Ages 25–45 / Parents of Early School-Age Children & Pre-schoolers / Interests: Mumsnet, CBeebies, Children's literature, Early childhood education.

Ad Creative Visual:

Split-screen Video (15 seconds):

- Top Half (Black and white): A stressed parent looking at a clock showing 8:30 PM, holding a bored child who is shaking their head at a stack of the same old books.
- Bottom Half (Bright colours): The child's eyes light up as they hold a tablet. The screen shows a beautifully illustrated, magical story titled "Oliver and the Dragon of London." The child taps a button to choose what happens next. The parent smiles, looking relaxed.
